Our Story

Our love story began midway through college, after a thrilling basketball game where Jonny hit a remarkable half-court shot! Susie was instantly captivated by his talent, and it sparked something special between us. After a year of dating, we knew that we had found our perfect match. Our wedding day was a true celebration of love and unity, with more than 400 friends and family members gathering to witness the beginning of our forever in 2011. It is a day we celebrate every year by going on an anniversary vacation together.

As a couple, we cherish the activities we enjoy together. From snuggling with our adorable pup to embarking on adventures in the great outdoors such as hiking, skiing, and mountain biking, we find joy in each other's company. We love hosting friends, cooking, and tackling home improvement projects like gardening, building furniture, housing projects and decorating. We are passionate about supporting our community and truly love our roles as Host Parents supporting families in times of need.

We have adored every moment and adventure as a couple, but now we are ready to begin our journey into parenthood. We are prepared with open hearts and open minds, and we can't wait to create a lifetime of beautiful memories and love with our child.

What I adore most about Susie is her intelligence, the sheer joy she exudes, and the genuine care she extends to everyone around her. Being in her presence is an absolute delight, as she possesses an incredible ability to be loyal through both the good times and the bad. Susie's creativity shines through in her talent for decorating, crocheting, and photography. With a background as a physical therapist and her current role as an administrative assistant, she uses her talents to keep things running smoothly and help people daily. Susie will undoubtedly be an exceptional mother, as she has a natural gift with children. Her ability to create a fun and nurturing environment that fosters creativity is remarkable. As a mother, Susie will provide unwavering support and love, ensuring that a child always feels cherished and important. I cannot wait to witness Susie shine as the most incredible mama ever!

About JONNY

Jonny is a man whose kindness and zest for life stole my heart from the very beginning.

What I adore most about him is his unwavering dedication to others and his genuine desire to deeply engage with life. He is a professor of counseling for graduate students, and his commitment to shaping the future generation of mental health professionals is inspiring. Jonny is creative and enjoys working in his wood shop, where he brings his ideas to life. I have no doubt that he will be an active, loving, and engaging parent, always brimming with fun and patience. His "out of the box" ideas will create the most memorable experiences for our child. With Jonny's unwavering support, a child will feel seen, heard, and loved unconditionally. It's undeniable that Jonny is going to be an incredible dad.

ANDREW & ELLIE

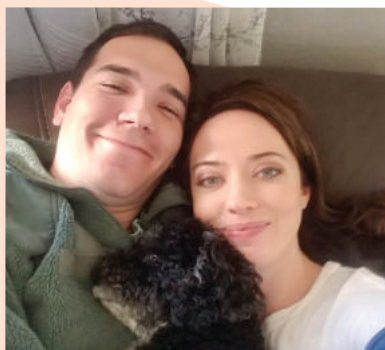

Andrew and Ellie, our beloved neighbors and dear friends, can't wait to welcome us to the parents' club - they are amazing parents themselves! They are thrilled for a child to join in on play dates, camping trips, and visits to the zoo. With Andrew and Ellie, a child will always feel secure, knowing they can count on them for extra love and support.

Our HOME

We adore our home located on a beautiful college campus; it's wonderful to be surrounded by a community of learning. Our kitchen table holds cherished memories with loved ones, and we find joy in taking on home improvement projects. We can already envision a child growing up here, with awesome playgrounds, nature parks, and family-friendly places to explore nearby. We're excited to create new traditions as a family of three, going all out for birthdays and enjoying family dinners, bedtime stories, and kitchen dance parties. Our home is filled with love and endless possibilities, and we can't wait to create magical memories with our child.
