

Peter & Ashley

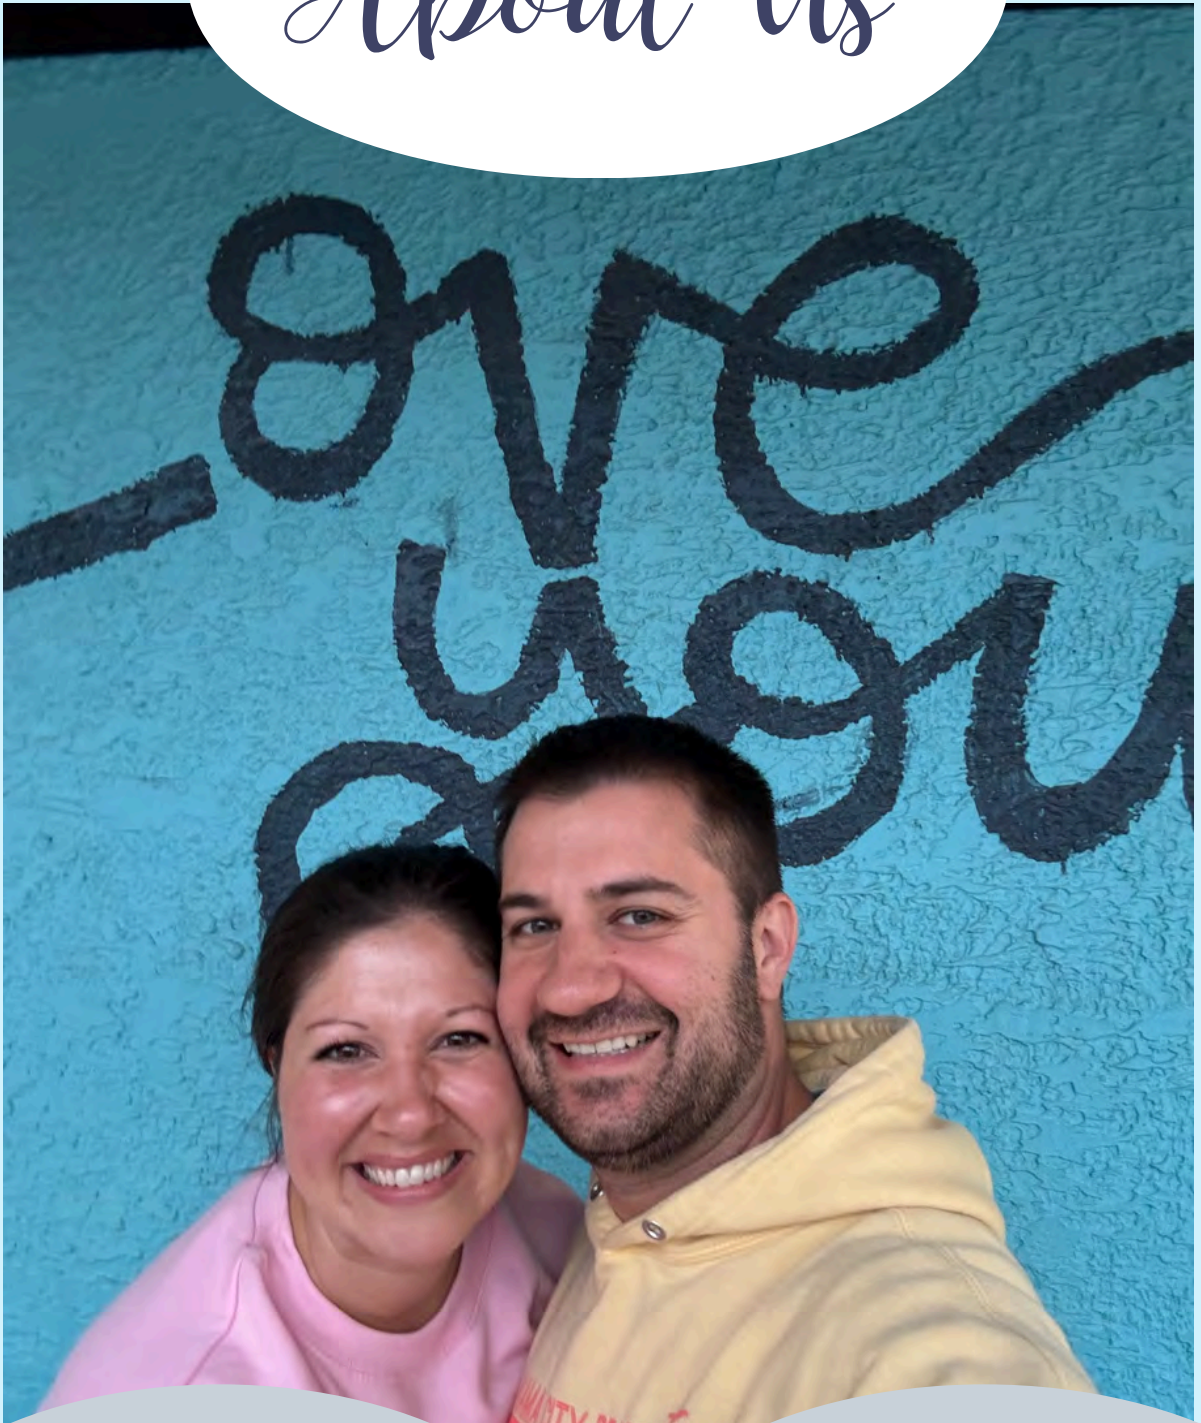

Dear expectant parent,

We have always felt led to adoption, and for over a decade the topic of adopting has been brought up as early as our dating years. Our journey of infertility has been something we never knew would be our reality.

After several years of losses, treatments, and procedures, we had successful in vitro fertilization and embryo transfer leading to the birth of our daughter, Andie. Even before Andie was born, God has prepared our hearts to excitedly enter this season of waiting for another child through adoption. We promise to love this child with every ounce of our being and make their life as wonderful as it can be, while raising them in a church community and stewarding the gift of parenthood as best we know how. God has been so faithful to lead us down this road, and we are so thrilled to have the opportunity to grow our family in this way. Nothing excites us more than bringing home a child to love, provide for, and lead while sharing the good news of Jesus for the rest of our lives. Thank you for your time and consideration.

About Us

Ashley

Nurse Practitioner

I enjoy hot coffee, reading non-fiction, long walks, cooking, traveling, and listening to podcasts or music.

Peter

Cyber Engineer, Army Officer

I enjoy going out to eat, reading, technology, house projects, cheering for Titans football, and naps.

How it Began

Peter grew up near Jackson, TN while Ashley grew up in Martin, TN. Our relationship started in college after being set up by mutual friends. Following getting married, we spent several years in middle Tennessee before moving further across the state to east Tennessee in 2019.

Over the Years

We have enjoyed many years of making memories while waiting for our family to grow. We have always enjoyed doing most anything together. As much as we value our home, we love getting out and staying active by going to local parks, restaurants, shopping, or doing a lot of hiking. We celebrate birthdays, anniversaries, or holidays with a new trip or experience every chance we can.

Hiking is something we look very forward to doing in the future as a family of four!

Meet Andie

After a long journey of using various fertility treatments, we welcomed our daughter, Andie, in 2024 after multiple rounds of IVF. She is extremely social and loving, and would excitedly step into the role of big sister if she gets half as excited about another baby as she does taking care of her dolls and seeing "real babies" in public! God has kept the longing for adoption in our hearts for a long time, and it appears all three of us are more than ready for this next chapter.

Hopefully you see from these pictures that your baby is sure to have a good life!

Fur Children

Starla (left) & Data (right)

This is our girl cat (Starla) and boy cat (Data), born to the same litter in March 2020! We adopted them in July 2020 and love them so much! They are great with Andie, and will let her pet them when they are feeling generous. Both are very docile cats who take every chance they can get to cuddle with their humans.

Our Home

We have lived in our home for several years and feel so blessed to be here. We have an open floor plan on the first floor and a bonus room on the second floor for extra play and learning spaces. The house has a fenced in backyard, perfect for playing outside. We love our location and school zone! It's a quiet neighborhood close to parks and playgrounds, walking tracks, libraries, and shopping.

Grandparents

PopPop & VeeVee
(Ashley's Parents)

These four grandparents are so incredibly excited to add another grandchild to the family! They all have set a wonderful example of marriage and parenting and wholeheartedly support our plan to adopt.

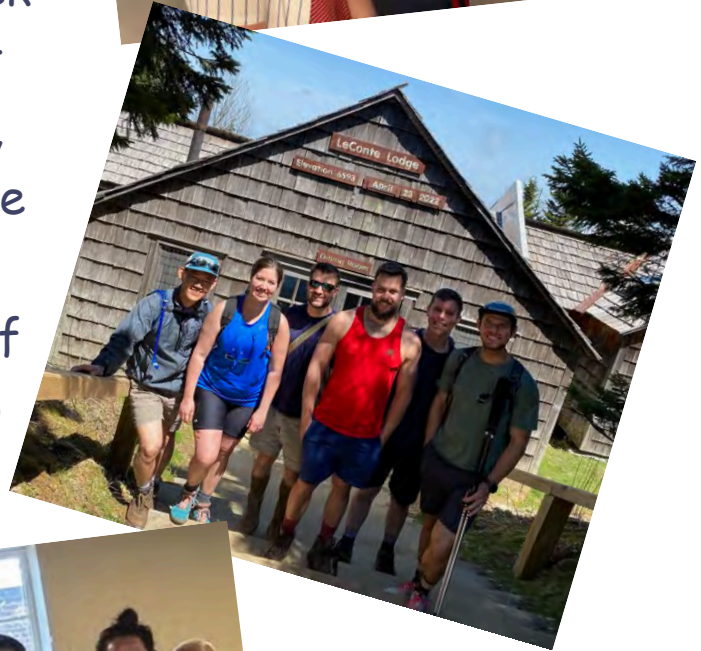

We would not be the parents or people we are today without their tremendous guidance. Although they live in West Tennessee, we see them multiple times throughout the year and value their regular presence in our lives.

Christian Values

We both grew up in Christian families and are members of a local church. We are regular attendees of Sunday morning worship. Our life group, which is a group of around 15 adults and their children, also meet at least once a week to discuss life, sermon topics, or just hang out. As a Christ-centered home, we are not perfect, but we strive to be a light for Jesus in our life and relationships. Your child will be part of a thriving youth program and grow up around other kids learning to follow Jesus.

Good Times

In the years to come, we look forward to more moments like these! We want to make as many memories with our kids as we can, whether it's cooking together in the kitchen with VeeVee, learning new skills with Granny, exploring nature with Aunt Sarah, or taking vacations as a family.

Our Hope & Promise

We recognize the immense responsibility you must feel in making the best decision for your baby. If you made it this far in our profile, our hope is that you can see the overflow of love we want to share. We believe God is ultimately so good, and we promise to share that goodness with your baby. We pray you feel confident about whichever wonderful couple you choose to bless with your little one.
